

The Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA), a network of professionals involved in building ownership, management, and development, spent nearly a week at the Sacramento Children's Home donating their time, materials, and expertise on a wide array of projects that so desperately needed completing!

The week started with a "fence lift" at the Casa Garden Restaurant, where contractors volunteered their time and manpower to replace worn out posts and fencing surrounding the iconic restaurant. Volunteers gave the fences on the campus a fresh coat of paint and spread fresh sand in the children's playground areas.

Contractors and volunteers were here early that Saturday morning to work on the Recreation Hall. The gym floor was professionally cleaned; windows were washed; all of the floors were cleaned and waxed; and the building was power washed.

BOMA volunteers their services once a year to a non-profit organization in our community as a way of giving back!
